GOV. EASLEY REAPPOINTS FIELD TO BOARD OF ARCHITECTURE

Raleigh - Gov. Mike Easley has reappointed Barbara Field of Asheville to the North Carolina Board of Architecture.

Field is an architect. She serves on the Asheville Alcoholic Beverage Control Board and is chairman of the Young Men's Institute Cultural Center Board of Directors. She received her Bachelor's degree in architecture from Georgia Tech University in Atlanta.

The board ensures that only persons with a minimum level of competence are permitted to practice architecture and that practicing architects act according to professional standards. The board has seven members, each serving a five-year term. The governor appoints all members.
